LGBTQ+ in the workplace

“I still feel pressure to keep quiet about my sexuality. I was working part-time over Christmas, and at least two colleagues made homophobic and transphobic remarks. I was too anxious and fearful of rejection to reprimand them or tell them that I was gay”.

Research by Stonewall shows that those who are LGBTQ+ still face high levels of bullying, harassment and conflict at work.

Read our article which explores ways we can work towards LGBTQ+ inclusive workspaces.
